Special Edition: Dancing with the Broomfield Stars

New batch of celebrity dancers ready for annual fundraiser

The inaugural Dancing with the Broomfield Stars was a rousing success! People of all ages were on hand last September to witness the dancing skills of eight area celebrities. Beau Smith (Sil-TerHar Motors) and Carlee Taga stole the show (and earned the most cash votes) with their own version of Beyoncé's "Single Ladies."

Dancing with the Broomfield Stars returns to the 1STBank Center on Thursday, September 22. A new batch of local celebrities have been practicing all summer with their professional dance instructors and coaches.

Area restaurants will be serving food on the concourse. You'll also be treated to a special appearance by the Phil Long Band. The event emcees are 9News Reporters Anastasiya Bolton and Dave Delozier.

Just like the hit television show, Dancing with the Broomfield Stars is a competition. Audience members will vote for their favorite couple with monetary donations. All proceeds benefit the Broomfield Community Foundation.

"Last year's event was a lot of fun and really brought out the community spirit of Broomfield," said Karen Smith, executive director of the Broomfield Community Foundation.

This year's celebrity dancers are: Randy Ahrens (Broomfield Chamber of Commerce); Ed Black (Presbyterian Church of Broomfield); Andrew Bosio (Restoration Specialists); Linda Deland (corporate trainer); Heather Drake (Flatiron Crossing); John Long (Broomfield High School); Jenifer

Madson (Donnelson, Ciancio, Goodwin); and Amy McKeller (climber).

The professionals coaching the celebrity dancers are: Morris Vaccarella III (Arthur Murray Dance Studio, Lakewood); Julia Wilkinson Manley and Collin Eckoff (Ballet Nouveau Colorado); Jennifer Johnson (Dance Arts Studio); Marie-Jose and Sophie Payannet (Danse Etoile Ballet); Courtney Duran, Evin Larsen, and Marcus Woods (Fred Astaire Dance Studio, Westminster); and Carlee Taga (Taps n' Toes).

For your entertainment pleasure, Julie Baxter, Bruce Erley, Beau Smith and Barb (Bobbi) Spader will serve as judges.

General admission tickets are still available online at www.BroomfieldFoundation.org or by calling the Foundation at 303.469.7208. Ticket prices are $40 for adults and $20 for students (25 and under).

She and her husband Les have lived in Colorado for more than 20 years.

Morris is the owner of the Arthur Murray dance studio in Lakewood. Arthur Murray is a highly-esteemed dance company that sets the standards of ballroom dancing worldwide. also performed in the 2009 and 2010 Youth Grand Prix in Denver. Sophie has competed in figure skating in the senior level and the Learn to Skate at the YMCA. Sophie will be a junior at the University of Colorado in Boulder where she is majoring in finance and molecular biology.

This is Ed's dance debut and perchance his only public dance event. Ed loves hiking, biking, reading, and visual arts. He refuses to believe that he hasn't got a prayer of winning.

Courtney has had a love for performing from a young age. She began dancing jazz, tap and ballet in an after-school dance program when she was in third grade. She continued dancing through high school where she was cast as a principal dancer in numerous musicals. Her first exposure to ballroom dancing was at age 16 when she took swing and cha cha lessons with a friend. She started working at Fred Astaire Dance Studio in October 2004 and has loved it ever since.

Amy McKellar and Evin Larsen Tango/Salsa

Rita Golden Gelman's quote may describe Amy best, "I move throughout the world without a plan, guided by instinct, connecting through trust, and constantly watching for serendipitous opportunities."

Amy grew up in Broomfield, learning to be the person that she is today. She was fortunate to have a family to give her plenty of opportunities to travel, learn about other cultures, and to appreciate our natural world and all of its beauty. Amy attended the University of Oregon. She has lived in many places including Chile, California, New Zealand and Mexico. Amy has done many things along the way, from cooking, climbing, surfing, traveling, guiding scuba diving, to coral research. She lives in Boulder and works as a chef.

He is married to Jill and they have three beautiful girls.

Carlee is a senior honor student at Regis University studying biology with emphasis in ecology and evolution. Carlee has been dancing since the age of two, has performed in many musicals and competitions, and teaches award-winning routines at Taps 'N Toes Dance Studio. Although she loves all types of dance, her favorite is tap! Carlee happily returns to the stage in her second round of Dancing with the Broomfield Stars and loves performing for this great cause!

Linda Deland and Marcus Woods –

Rumba/East Coast Swing

Linda first viewed the Rocky Mountains in 1974. By 1975, she and husband Tom, were calling Broomfield their home. Linda is a senior manager for learning and development, overseeing the corporate training at multiple campuses for Holiday Retirement's 300+ properties. Linda and Tom have two adult children, Michelle (Paul) and Joe and enjoy the wonderful life they have created in Broomfield. Those who attended last year will remember Linda as the judge "Simona". When asked to dance this year her reaction was "No! They'll crucify me!"

Marcus became interested in ballroom the same way that most people do – he saw everybody else doing it. As an instructor, Marcus performs in shows, exhibitions, competitions, and makes a living just having fun! He has taught at Fred Astaire Dance Studios for the last three years and hasn't looked back or down. ❤️
